

(1) I am good with money when I give it my full attention.

(2) Anyone can become skilled at business, including me.

(3) I'm confident I'll learn the skills I need and find the right people to support me at the right times.

(4) I'm confident that I'll be able to afford the help I need at the right times.

(5) Perspiration feels great when it comes from doing something I love.

(6) Success and wealth can and do co-exist with a rewarding and fulfilling personal life.

(7) Work feels rewarding when I'm doing something I love to do.

(8) Money is best earned by doing work I love to do.

(9) Marketing is a new and important part of my success.

(10) Selling is about helping people, and I can learn how to do that in ways that increase sales.

(11) By selling quality products and services, I'm helping people find much-needed solutions to problems.

(12) I am willing to learn and practice new skills, and confident that I will find the support I need at the right times.

(13) I am confident in my ability to lead myself toward a successful future, even when that means stepping out of my comfort zone.

(14) Even though I don't yet have all the answers, I am confident in my ability to learn any new skills and knowledge I need to succeed.

(15) I can learn everything I need to start, run and grow a successful business.

(16) Leaders learn about leadership, and then test-run what they learn. I can do that, too!

(17) Lasting financial success is about bouncing back when things don't go as planned. That's part of what I'm learning now.

(18) I don't have to be lucky to achieve financial success. I can learn new skills, make wiser decisions, and get better results.

(19) I'm using tapping to overcome past disappointments and create a more abundant and rewarding future.

(20) Using better tools and systems, I can figure out how to make more money without working too many hours.

(21) Financial success and personal fulfillment are important to me, so they're worth making time and space in my life for.

(22) When I do work that I love, it's worth it.

(23) Work that I love fulfills and energizes me.

(24) Work is rewarding when I'm doing things I love to do.

(25) I can learn to network and meet new people in ways that feel rewarding and worthwhile.

(26) It's safe for me to relax and enjoy working with other people.

(27) I am great with people.

(28) I can make as much money as I intend to in this lifetime with a clear vision for my well-being and human welfare.

(29) My past history with money has no effect on how much money I can make now or in the future.

(30) My gender, race, religion and cultural heritage do not limit my future success and wealth in any way.

(31) I am confident that I can manage all the money I make and have complete control over how money flows in and out of my life.

(32) I can always afford what I want if it is meant for my highest good.

(33) I always make more than enough money to pay all my bills on time every time.

(34) There is no limit to how much money I can make as it all depends on my cash consciousness.

(35) Being rich is a personal and unique experience and I can use and spend money however I choose.

(36) My past education has no bearing on how rich and successful I can become.

(37) Starting something new is exciting! This is important to me, so it's worth the time and effort it requires.

(38) I'll never be too old to try something new and/or be successful.

(39) I've learned a lot over the years, and I can use all of that to be more successful than ever.

(40) I'll never be too old to pursue my passions and achieve success through them.

(41) I have many great skills and lots of important knowledge.

(42) You don't need money to make money.

(43) I can make money and achieve financial success, in spite of my past experiences.

(44) Making money from my passion will make me love it even more.

(45) I'm confident I can find ways to turn my passions into new ways of making money.

- (46) This year, I am excited to attract and receive more success and richness into my life.
- (47) It is perfectly okay and normal for me to want and require more money.
- (48) I am confident that I can easily pay any existing loan, mortgage, debt and more by doing something I love.
- (49) Even if it feels scary at first, I am confident that I can move beyond the fear to pursue my dreams and try out new things.
- (50) Making big changes in my life is something I can learn to be comfortable with.
- (51) If my life is not working, then it means it is time to go for what I really want to do in this lifetime.
- (52) In order to fix my life, I can try and learn something new without any guilt, fear or remorse.
- (53) I am confident that I can manage my health and myself while pursuing something new.
- (54) I am confident that I can find the time and receive the resources to try something new.

(55) I am confident I can overcome my tendency to procrastinate, starting today.

(56) I can always make time to finish things and complete what I undertake.

(57) As I continue co-creating more money, I find that I have that much more to gain and share for overall welfare.

(58) I co-create money so that I can enjoy an abundant life and that includes helping a lot more people learn about money.

(59) There is no amount of money that is too much for me. I am confident that I can make and manage financial abundance at a level beyond even my wildest dreams.

(60) I choose to feel relaxed and at ease when I deal with and discuss money.

(61) When I think about success and prosperity, it feels like it is meant to be for me.

(62) I can take calculated risks and achieve financial success without jeopardizing the important things in my life.

(63) I can take strategic risks and still be a good parent.

(64) I can start something new and still be available to my kids.

(65) My kids want me to be happy, which sometimes means investing in myself and my dreams.

(66) It is not irresponsible to take risks.

(67) Taking strategic risks in order to pursue my dreams is wise and courageous and not selfish.

(68) I can be rich and generous without jeopardizing my life.

(69) Having a lot of money does not affect the kind of person I am.

(70) I can be rich and sincere at the same time.

(71) Being successful and having money makes me a better version of myself.

(72) Anyone, including me, can get rich and famous and joyful.

(73) Having money means being an even better version of myself.

(74) I deserve lasting financial success and personal fulfillment without any validation or excuse.

(75) Making a lot of money means I am helping lots of people.

(76) When it comes to the rich and middle class, we're all in it together.

(77) Having money means being able to act on my integrity and intention more often.

(78) I like many different people, regardless of their finances.

(79) I am confident in my ability to make, handle and manage even very large sums of money.

(80) My ever-growing circle of friends and family will still love and appreciate me once I become rich and successful.

(81) I am never too old to pursue my passions and achieve success through them.

(82) I have many great skills and lots of important knowledge.

(83) I require intention, integrity and clarity to make money.

(84) I can make money and achieve financial success, in spite of my past experiences.

(85) Making money from my passion will make me love it even more.

(86) I am confident I can find ways to turn my passions into new ways of making money.

(87) I can turn my hobbies into profitable businesses.

(88) Doing work I love will only make me more productive and successful.

(89) It feels amazing making money doing what I love.

(90) My past experience with money only helps me become wealthier and intelligent.

(91) Money is a source of joy for me.

(92) Money is my pure and abundant energy.

(93) Working with people can be fun and doesn't have to involve conflict.

(94) My life is already pretty good and I am looking forward to growing and expanding the good in my life.

(95) Making money is about creating financial abundance and living up to my potential. It doesn't mean I am greedy.

(96) My financial success contributes to others' financial success. This is not a zero-sum game.

(97) It is safe for me to relax and enjoy interacting with people, both professionally and personally.

(98) I can relax and enjoy learning new things because it is a necessary part of achieving my dreams.

(99) I can be successful without becoming a "techie."

(100) Starting something new is so exciting and important to me and so it is worth the time and effort it requires.

(101) I am too old or too young to try something new and be successful.

(102) I have learnt a lot over the years and I can use all of that to be even more successful than ever.

(103) I use spiritual tools to overcome past disappointments and create a more abundant and rewarding future.

(104) Financial success and personal fulfillment are important to me, so they're worth making time and space in my life for.

(105) When I do work that I love, it's worth it as it fulfills and energizes me and it's rewarding.

(106) It is safe for me to relax and enjoy working with other people as I am getting better with people.

(107) I know lots of the right people and I meet even more people who like and respect me for who I am.

(108) Lasting financial success is about bouncing back when things do not go as planned and that is a part from where I learn and move on in life.